

Real Estate

Stro acquires industrial building in Lincoln Park

By Emily Bader, April 4, 2016 at 11:12 AM

The Stro Companies has acquired an industrial building in Lincoln Park, it announced Monday.

The property, 510 Ryerson Road, is a 150,000-square-foot multitenant property.

“We are excited about this acquisition. The existing tenancies and vacancy provide us with a tremendous opportunity to create value over the short and long terms. We expect the relaunch of this asset under the Stro moniker to create fast results for the vacant space available at the building,” Todd Minerley, director of acquisitions and leasing, said in a prepared statement. “We continue to seek great opportunities like 510 Ryerson in top northern New Jersey markets”.

The financing for 510 Ryerson was through Lakeland Bank.

You May Have Missed...

- Moving into modern: Rockefeller Group's new location in Morristown is built for the future
- Changing the model: Denholtz Associates finding fresh approach to development
- Old into new: How Audible will expand in Newark with another modern workspace
- A fresh look: Value Cos. maintains solid spot in multifamily sector by updating its older properties with modern amenities

Emily Bader

Follow @emilybader

Emily Bader is the copy and web editor at NJBIZ. She is a Brielle, N.J. native and a Rutgers University alum. You can contact her at emilyb@njbiz.com.

+ Leave a Comment

0 Comments
